“Using Timelines In Your Research”

Presented by: Beverly Yackel

Timelines are lists of events in chronological order. They can help us understand what was happening in the lives of our ancestors AND their siblings. Researching their siblings may help you to understand WHY your ancestor moved out-of-state only to return several years later. Timelines help us discover gaps in our research.

Many different types of timelines will be discussed including those that can help your genealogy research such as wars, epidemics, migration, townships & counties, immigration and other countries. The main focus for this talk is how to create a “Genealogy Timeline” which consists of two items:

1. Personal Chronology (Events that occurred during a person’s life.)
2. Historical Events (You’ll learn where to find these events.)

I regret to say that creating a Personal Chronology for each of your direct ancestors will cause you to get MORE ORGANIZED and to do MORE RESEARCH. So be prepared! You will learn which items should be included and “why”. We will also discuss why you should combine the two (personal & history) into a Genealogy Timeline for EACH of your direct ancestors.

Beverly Seward Yackel is a Past-President of the Monmouth County Genealogy Society and a member for many years of their Education & Speakers Bureau Committees. She has spoken to many groups in central and northern NJ as well as here in Orange Co., NY. She is an Assistant Director at the Eatontown NJ Family History Center. She enjoys helping others start their genealogy research. She specializes in census records and organizing your genealogy research.

She is Class Coordinator for the Middletown Ramblers Square Dance Club (NJ). Now that she & her husband are no longer President of the group she is trying to find time to spend on her own genealogy research.
